

IV. Provision of supportive services that encourage the practice of proper BF and complementary feeding

- Counseling centers for infant and young child nutrition will be set up, including one-to-one and telephone counseling.
 - Production of micronutrient fortified foods
- Daycare centers and BF rooms should be arranged close to working place, workshops, and factories with lots of female employees. Lactating mothers should be supported to have more time to sustain BF.